MOOSE SEATS OFFICERS AT CONVENTION'S CLOSE

Two States Select Springfield For 1951

Newport Lodge Praised For Success of Program; Parade, Banquet, Ball Held

An election and installation of officers, the selection of Springfield, Mass., for 1951 convention and the passing of a resolution commending Newport Lodge ann its auxiliary for the success of the affair here, highlighted the closing session of the four-day annual convention of the Massachusetts, Rhode Island Association of the Loyal Order of Moose Sunday afternoon at the Moose Wading.

Albert O. McMillian of the Gloucester, Mass., lodge, retiring president, was succeeded by Mathew Cremmer of Pawtucket. Other officers named were Angelo Giffuna, Woburn; Albert Forrest, Lynn; Earl S. Lind, Worcester; George LeGault, Fall River; Joseph Gordon, Greenfield; Joseph Boinchat, Pawtucket, vice presidents; Frank J. Lajoie of Watertown, Mass., New England representative; Ray Gunning, secretary; Charles H. Mahaney, general convention chairman, announced a trophy which he donated to the Waltham, Mass., lodge, winner of the ritualistic competition. A television set was awarded to Dante Bugale of the Beverly Lodge for his work on behalf of the order.

The women staged a ritualistic ceremony at the Elks Home, with Mrs. Celia R. Vargas of New Bedford, deputy grand regent, in charge. Glenny Thomas Beech man Chapter of this city, Mrs. Ruth Kirshner, senior regent in charge, took part with units from Worcester, Marlboro and Everett.

Newsporter Commended

Mrs. Anna Johnston, former member of the local chapter and now a resident of Parade, who is a grand council member, congratulated the Newport units on the success of the convention. Her remarks except included Mrs. Margaret E. Newbolt of the local chapter and Pilgrim Honor Degree member; Mrs. Esther Bruno of Newport, graduate associate dean; Sue H. Whitford, Newport, of the Colings of Regents.

Morning activities Sunday consisted of attendance at services at the Christ Congregational Church at 11 A. M., at which the pastor, the Rev. Carl B. Barr, extended a welcome to the visitors and complimented the order on the work it is doing, particularly at Moosehart, Ill., the "Child City" of the order, and at Moosehaven, Fla., city for aged members of the order. Albert J. Maibick was in general charge of arrangements. The speakers marched from the Wading to the church.

Units Appear In Parade

A street parade of units of the order, their auxiliaries and other organizations featured the program Saturday afternoon. Louis L. Lawrence of Newport Lodge was marshal, and Richard D. Dennies, chief of staff.

The Naval Training Station band headed the marchers, followed by Pilgrim Honor Degree members. Bugle and drum corps of Troop 7, Boy Scouts, of Medford, led Medford Lodge. Next came the Waltham and Cambridge units, Mass., lodges and a Quincy drum and bugle corps.

The Boston, Roxbury led the Cape Ann and Gloucester, Mass., lodges and the Dartmouth women's chapter. Following were the lodges and chapters of Revere, Norwood, Greenfield, Worcester, Marlboro, Leominster, Attleboro and Fall River. The Jamestown girls bugle and drum corps put on a series of maneuvers along the route of march. St. Mathieu's bugle and drum corps of Pawtucket led delegation of Boy Scouts.

Floats In Procession

Several floats added color to the procession. Newport Lodge had one depicting the Nine O'clock Ceremony of the order at Moosehart. Kathy Curran and Billy Kirby were the children, with Mrs. Ira J. Lewis as the house mother and Fred McGrirrey as the lodge representative.

The local chapter had a float. Mrs. Margaret Hirst of North Adams, Mass., who on Friday had been crowned "Queen of Spangers," was seated on a throne surrounded by her attendants. They included Mrs. Irene Davis, and Mrs. Ruth Kirchner of Newport.

The Quonset Naval Air Station had a 50-foot float of a model aircraft carrier called the "U.S.S. Quonset Point." It was complete with movable turrets and radar system. Another float from the North Attleboro Lodge had an impersonator of the late

WARD REGISTRATION WILL END THIS WEEK

Canvass Board Will Begin Final Round Tonight At Tommy Hill

The final registration visits of the Board of Canvassers to the four wards of the city will be made this week, commencing tonight at Tommy Hill in the First Ward.

Because of expected increased activity on the part of the political organizations in getting persons out to register, the board will take all of its four books to each registration visit this week. Previously, only two books have been taken to each ward.

Although the board will visit each ward for the convenience of those living there, canvass officials pointed out that anyone anywhere in the city may register at any of the registration points.

Tuesday night, the board will have its books in the Second Ward at the old fire station at Equality Park. Wednesday it will open its offices in the city hall basement for Third Ward voters, and as a central point where anyone in the city may stop in. Thursday night the board will finish its rounds for this year at Sheridan Hall, Wellington avenue, in the Fourth Ward.

PORTUGUESE BODY ELECTS

PITTSFIELD, Mass., June 12 (AP)—Jose M. Oliveira of Hartford, Conn., has been named to his tenth consecutive term as president of the Portuguese Continental Union.

Oliveira was re-elected Sunday by 400 convention delegates from New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Other officers chosen by the fraternal order of Portuguese-American were Albert Cunha of Peabody, vice president; John P. Rio of Hudson, treasurer; and Anibal R. Branco of Boston, secretary.

U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, one of the leaders of the order for many years, and two children being told the story of Moosehart.

Banquet and Ball Held

A banquet at the Hotel Viking in the evening, followed by a ball at the State Armory, highlighted the activities of the evening. Alderman Maloney was toastmaster. Mayor Edmund W. Pardee brought the city greetings.

Albert E. Ladner of Philadelphia, general counsel of the supreme lodge of the order, told of what is being done for the children at Moosehart and described the erection of the "House of God," a million dollar edifice there, dedicated to worship by children of all faiths.

Others called on for brief remarks were Mrs. Johnston, William Dixon of South Norwalk, Conn., a Pilgrim member; Edward Miles of Moosehart, a member of the grand council; George Fuchsberg, secretary of the South Norwalk Lodge; Mrs. Mary Manfreda, graduate associate dean of Connecticut; Mrs. Hirst, Myron T. Ashley, of Massachusetts, past state president of the association; Manuel T. Davis, past governor of New Bedford Lodge; George Vargas of New Bedford, member of the Moosehart Foundation; Joseph Leandro, present governor of Newport Lodge; Mrs. Kirchner, Mrs. Vargas and Mrs. Mary Fancy, both deputy grand regents, and George Rogers, deputy supreme governor.

The ball at the armory was attended by about 500, with Tommy Carusa's orchestra playing.

An open house was held at Moose Hall Sunday evening for many who stayed over after the convention. There was general dancing to the music of Al Williams "Golden Fingers" orchestra. David E. Carroll was in general charge, assisted by Joseph J. Martin, Dominic Pennacchi, Fred W. Meiers and Raymond Hart.

SEARCH FOR 4 ABANDONED

Coast Guard Ends Hunt For Lake Drowning Victims

The Coast Guard has abandoned search for the bodies of four persons who apparently drowned in boating accidents in windswept Lake Michigan Saturday.

Miss Adella Vierhelle, 25, an employee of the Army Quartermaster Depot, was pitched off the forward deck of a small cabin sailboat when a gust of wind tipped the craft. A passenger fell for her a bouquet saddlon but she disappeared.

The eighth victim of another mishap were believed to be Miss Ruby Baker, 30, of Chicago, Peter Tousche, 24, and his brother, Eric, 18, University of Chicago students from Montreal, Canada.

Occupants of another boat saw the overturned dingy and said a girl was clinging to the craft, apparently exhausted. When asked if others were with her, she raised an arm and pointed downward. The girl sank before aid could reach her.

Coast Guardsmen abandoned search yesterday, saying the job may implicate because of the area which must be covered.

BERKELEY'S RECTOR FETED ON ANNIVERSARY

The Rev. H. M. P. Davidson, Ordained 25 Years; Presented Gift At Tea.

The Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, rector of Berkeley Memorial Church and chaplain of St. George's School, was honored Sunday at a tea given in the parish house on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination. About 100 attended.

Mr. Davidson was presented with a purse by C. P. B. Jefferys, parish treasurer, from church members and friends, in expressing his appreciation, the rector spoke of his forthcoming trip to England where he will pass the summer.

Among those attending were the Rev. Edward Price, rector of St. Mary's Church, Portsmouth, Mrs. Price and the Rev. Harold Forster. Flowers were donated by Rosier Bulk, junior warden. St. Columba's Guild served the tea. Mrs. Maxwell B. C. Fuchsbar, president, and Mrs. William A. Bailey, vice president of the guild were the committee in charge.

BRIDAL SHOWER HELD

A bridal shower for Miss Eleanor C. Douglas of Prescott Hall road was given Friday evening by her aunt, Mrs. Margaret A. Cowan of Rivarts street at the home of another aunt, Mrs. Charles P. Douglas on Maitland court. Miss Douglas received many gifts.

A buffet supper was served by Mrs. Cowan, assisted by Mrs. Sally Brady and Mrs. Douglas. The table decorations were arranged by Miss Irene Shantelier.

Miss Douglas will be married June 24, in St. Joseph's Church to Roger Pelletier of Springfield, Mass., an X-ray technician at the Naval Hospital. Miss Douglas is employed at the Chamber of Commerce.
