Moose and Women C
Conclude Two-
Day Conference

Conferences Saturday and Sunday marked the week-end session of the Women of the Moose in connection with the eighth annual conference of the Massachusetts Moose association. Despite rainy weather, there was a large attendance at the opening conference Saturday morning in Knights of Columbus hall, preceded by regalia. Associate Pilgrim Theresa McCullough presided at the business sessions.

Visiting senior regents and committee chairmen spoke on work of their chapters, stressing the cooperative in the chapter was essential for its success. Honored guest and conference leader, Senior Regent Lillian Roberge, was unable to attend after being recently quite ill. Chapter work discussed Saturday included publicity by Mrs. Dyhelia Segali. Academy of Friends, how to qualify for the college of regents, chapter visits, programs, and how to fill in form

Under discussion Sunday was successful sponsor's night, special dispensations, quarterly financial report, sponsoring cadet nurses, and blood banks, the latter spoken of by Margaret Newbold of Newport, R. I. Luncheons and dinners for both the men and women were held throughout the conference.

Star Recorder Gepaldine Tagney of Lynn spoke Saturday at a special session for senior regents, auditing committee and recorders. Guests of honor gave brief talks at the joint banquet which followed at the Masonic house, preceding initiation in K. of C. hall. Prayers for boys and girls in the service were offered.

Initiation was conducted by the Greenfield chapter, and the Moose heart endowment fund by the Medford chapter. The local chapter also, performed the balloting and finding as Lynn and Newburyport were unable to attend. Pilgrim Eva Hurley spoke on the development of the WOTM in Massachusetts. New candidates, during the conference class, included Leola Lovejoy, Lucy Vanasse, Josephine Colvelle, Laura Baille, Mary Dugras, Eva Gadreault, Exilda Gadreault, Margaret Watt, Gertrude Baisch, Louise Phelps, Marjorie Chaffey and Helen Pettes.

Members of the Pilgrim honor degree who were special guests were Eva Starkey, Mary Foley, Margaret Newbold and Theresa McCullough. Senior regent of chapters passing the peak membership are Lillian Roberge of Greenfield, Mary Phelan of Fall River, Helen Fitzgerald of Medford, George Brady of Weymouth and Geraldine Gianesia of Beverly.

Installation of Greenfield officers took place yesterday afternoon with installing officers including Pilgrim McCullough, regent; Minnie Carlen, guide; Nellie Duncan, chaplain, and Alice Cheney, patriot. Mrs. Roberge is now the junior graduate regent and was escorted to her station. The new senior regent is Mabelle Wright. The chapter was congratulated on its work as hostess, and on the new officers. Flowers were presented to the new senior regent by her husband, and Mrs. Roberge. Mrs. Wright presented all officers and escorts with corsages and gifts to the installing officers. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Roberge by the officers and Mrs. Wright.

Songs were rendered by Charles Green, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Cheney. Receptions were held each night at the Moose home. Faith chapter will meet tonight for its business session.

The conference for the men closed Sunday afternoon at the Moose home with election of officers for the Massachusetts-Rhode Island association. They are Myron Ashley of Fall River, president; William Carter of Medford continued in office as secretary, and vice-presidents Walter Filmond of Medford, first district; Chester Arthur of Danvers, second district; Nicholas Benedito of Marlborough third district; Daniel Suckerman of Attleboro, fourth district; Theodore Cornick of Pittsfield, fifth district; Dr. F. F. Killian of Pawtucket, R. I., seventh district. The conference voted to abolish the sixth district.

The delegates included 206 men, 190 women. Total registration including visitors was 700. The men's degree competition which was held as part of the program put Everett in first place, Marlboro, second, and Fall River, third. Myron Ashley, newly elected president, was awarded the $100 war bond.
